

Parents and Guardians,

I am excited to announce that our art program has gone digital! Below you will find the web address for Grass Lake Middle School's art website and blog called Crandell's Class Creations. On our website you will be able to view your child's finished pieces of artwork, see what we've been doing in class and comment and provide feedback to your child about their artwork. Eventually the site will be entirely student-run. Students will document the progress on their pieces with digital cameras, upload their finished piece, blog about the process and our day's work and post information on artists we are learning about. The opportunities are endless! The students are excited about having their artwork published for the world to see, so please pass along our web address to family and friends. I encourage you to stop by the site frequently to see what your child is creating.

In addition, I ask that you fill out the publishing permission form below. For privacy issues, I am allowing you to opt out of this opportunity at varying levels. Please check whatever you are most comfortable with. I will never release a student's last name, only first. And I will only post pictures of your child without showing their face if you prefer as well.

You can find our site at <http://crandellsclasscreations.weebly.com>.

Thank you for your support,

Mrs. Crandell

+++++

Child's Name: _____

Please circle the level of information you are comfortable with me releasing on our website/blog.

You may publish my student's artwork, picture and first name.

You may publish my student's photo only if his/her face is not shown.

You may publish my student's artwork and picture only.

You may publish my student's artwork and name only.

You may publish my student's artwork only.

You may not publish any of my student's information.